Prexy: Good Record - Let's Keep It

By RALPH A. MITCHELL

Well, folks, we've done it again.

For seven consecutive times the California State Numismatic Association has come through with bang-up conventions. At Long Beach the registration was excellent. The food was good. Exhibits and bourse were all that could be desired. The convention room, which housed all activities, was adequate and was splendidly arranged. Old-timers say they never have seen such diversity and general excellence of exhibits except at ANA conventions.

One member remarked that the state association has been mighty "lucky" to have held seven conventions without a single dud. That may appear to be luck, folks, but it isn't, really.

The wholehearted support of the members, the dealers, and the convention committees "made" the convention. Sam Kabealo, as general chairman, did an excellent job and deserves the thanks of every member.

We can't rest on our laurels, however. The show must go on. In the spring we hold our eighth session, this time in the seaside convention city of Santa Cruz.

Just as small boys dream from Christmas to Christmas, let us, too, look forward to our next get-together period of fun and good fellowship. Robert G. McArthur of Oakland is general chairman. His committee is composed of Earl Parker and Bill Smith of San Francisco, Fred Skillman of Santa Cruz, and Charley Kappen of San Jose. Let's all plan, boost, and participate in the spring convention in Santa Cruz.

Two-Faced God Opens New Year

A two-faced god opens the year.

January was dedicated by the Romans to their god Janus, who was supposed to have two faces — one looking forward, the other backward — to indicate that he stood between the old year and the new.

One side of the aes grave pictures Janus and the other side shows the prow of a ship, indicative of Rome's maritime power. Roman boys, while flipping a coin, are said to have used the expression, "heads or ships".

Much was made of the new year by the old Romans. To them it symbolized the putting aside of an old life and the taking up of a new.

Although Jan. 1 now is accepted by most Christian countries as New Year's Day, for a long time that event was celebrated Mar. 25.

CSNA Library Available to Members

CSNA library books are available to members at no cost other than postage for mailing and return. A postal card to the librarian will receive prompt attention. Join the growing list of members who are making use of library books. This service is one of many included in your membership fee.

It is planned, possibly in the March issue, to publish a list of donors and their contributions to the library. Some dealers and collectors have stated that they will contribute books but have not as yet done so, possibly because it has slipped their minds. Besides books, the library will welcome copies of The Numismatist, Numismatic Scrapbook, Coin Collectors Journal, Seaby's Bulletin and other coin publications, auction catalogs, and fixed price lists. Address your communications to Stewart J. Bingham, librarian, 1045 S. Towne Ave., Pomona.

Hester, Carey, Ward Win First Prizes

Winners of first place ribbons at the seventh semi-annual convention of the California State Numismatic Association Nov. 10-12 in Long Beach were Clint Hester, Los Angeles, U.S. division; Michael P. Carey, Los Angeles, Foreign division; and Thomas W. Ward, Fallbrook, Ancient division. Hester exhibited U.S. gold, Carey displayed coins of 360 countries, and Ward showed Roman Republican silver.

Registered members attending the convention voted by secret ballot for first, second, and third places in each of the three categories. Leonel C. Panosh, awards chairman, announced winners during the Sunday luncheon. He said 15 U.S., 11 foreign, and 10 ancient displays received votes.

Other winners in the Foreign division were Everett S. Ostrom, Kingsburg, Swedish coins, second; and Milton C. Strauch, San Francisco, historical foreign coins, third. In the U.S. division, Vreeland Fraser, La Canada, won second prize with U.S. proof sets and Mrs. James Crouthamel, San Diego, third award with U.S. paper money. Charles V. Kappen, San Jose, placed second in the Ancient division with coins of Rome, Greece, Egypt, Judea, and China. Ralph A. Mitchell, Bakersfield, took third prize with a collection of ancient Chinese coins.

Special awards were voted Mrs. Leonel C. Panosh, San Diego, for her collection of medals and decorations; to Leonel C. Panosh, San Diego, for a map display of U.S. commemorative half dollars; to Tom Twohey, San Francisco junior, "Coins of Old England"; and to Dennis Olswang, San Francisco junior, for his Canadian display.

Clint Hester won the first award of the Numismatic Gallery, and attained the 15 points necessary for permanent possession of that firm's "Annie."

All activities of the convention were housed in the Marine Room on the second floor of the Wilton Hotel. Membership registration totaled 154.

Speakers at the numismatic forum Friday evening were G. R. Halliday, Los Angeles, "Coins of Biblical Times"; G. R. Wiers, Long Beach, "Oriental Coins"; and Michael P. Carey, Los Angeles, "California Numismatic Activities."

Prof. Charles L. Ruby, Fullerton, ANA board member, introduced the speakers. He said Carey holds the oldest ANA membership number in California, No. 382. Joe Steele, who was to have spoken on Lincoln cents, was unable to appear because of the severe illness of Mrs. Steele. Christian Petersen, Chehalis, Wash., was ill and could not be present to discuss his specialty, U.S. large cents.

Dr. Calvert L. Emmons, exhibits chairman, said 33 members displayed coins, using 90 cases.

Eighteen dealers had bourse space: Joe Block, Los Angeles; Eureka Coin Shop (William H. Smith), San Francisco; Edward H. Fish, Fresno; Frank P. Hernandez, El Cajon; W. E. Johnson, Santa Barbara, Eugene D. Johnston, San Diego; Irving Knickerbocker, San Diego; Frederick Langford, Pasadena; Kenneth W. Lee, Glendale; George A. Lefler, Temple City; Numismatic Gallery, Beverly Hills; Del Poizner, Hollywood; Dr. Ray O. Porter, San Louis Obispo; William J. Sexton, Santa Maria; Frank S. Smith & Son, Wheaton, Ill.; Dr. Bruce L. Wallace, San Diego; Warner Coin Co., Los Angeles; and Paul H. Wittlin, Carmel. Kenneth W. Lee was bourse chairman.

Entertainment at the banquet Saturday evening was provided by the Misses Paula and Jackie Darker, who sang and played piano, accordion, and violin numbers, and by "Dr." Earl Lockman, Alhambra, who presented "Scientific Humbug." Lockman says he was the first magician to do the escape act over radio.

Charles V. Kappen, master of ceremonies, introduced visitors and out-of-state members present. Lewis M. Reagan, ANA general secretary, Wichita, Kan., and Loyd Gettys, ANA past president, Davenport, Ia., made the trip by air. Sol Kaplan, Cincinnati, O.; F. A. Worley, Shreveport, La.; Frank S. Smith and Frank S. Smith Jr., Wheaton, Ill.; and Dennis Olswang and Tom Twohey, San Francisco juniors, were present. Leonel G. Panosh, second vice-president, and Charles L. Ruby, member of the board of governors of the ANA, were introduced.

Sam J. Kabealo, convention general chairman, was introduced, and made a brief report, thanking those who had assisted him.

Ralph Mitchell, president, introduced Herbert R. Klocksiem, Long Beach city councilman, and Mrs. Klocksiem. Councilman Klocksiem made an address of welcome and said that Burton W. Chace, Long Beach mayor, had proclaimed the week "Coin Week" in Long Beach.

An 1874CC trade dollar, donated by Earl A. Parker, San Francisco, was auctioned by President Mitchell, and brought $13 to the association treasury.

Door prizes, donated by dealer members, were awarded by Karl Brainard, Santa Monica.

It was announced that Jack Ogilvie, Hollywood, had been named to succeed Farran Zerbe, deceased, as ANA historian. A letter from V. Leon Belt was read. Belt invited CSNA members to attend the Phoenix Coin Club's sixth birthday party Dec. 10.

President Mitchell was toastmaster at the Sunday luncheon.

Dr. Bruce L. Wallace, San Diego, announced the 1953 Cabrillo International Exposition in San Diego and invited the CSNA to hold its convention in San Diego that fall.

The traditional post-mortem buffet supper was held Sunday evening with Dr. Calvert L. Emmons, Ontario, as host.

Auction sales were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday by Sam J. Kabealo, Pasadena.

Convention chairmen other than those already named were finance, L. C. Panosh, San Diego; program, Charles D. Kiser, Santa Ana; publicity, Jack W. Ogilvie, Hollywood; reception, Joe Steele, Santa Ana; registration, J. R. Stewart, Ontario; and ways and means, Stewart Bingham, Pomona.

Out-of-state members and visitors other than those present at the banquet were Oscar Fulton, Tucson, Ariz.; Dr. and Mrs. Harry D. Cartmell, Greenville, Ill.; and R. F. Schermerhorn, Dallas, Tex.

As this convention gets under way, my thoughts are: What effect will it have in making new coin collectors and attracting new members to our organization? If it doesn't do both, our convention will be somewhat of a failure.

The answers to a questionnaire, as tabulated in the October issue of Calcoin News are enlightening, but disappointing in the small proportionate number of respondents. It almost indicates a lack of interest by nearly two-thirds of our members. Maybe our approach did not sufficiently emphasize the importance of an answer. At any rate, from these answers we have a plainly marked course for consideration and guidance.

As the convention is the most important of our activities, it should not be lightly considered. Fifty-one members prefer semi-annual conventions and 40 favor annual ones. This is close. An annual convention, in my opinion, is too infrequent. If one through unavoidable circumstances is missed, another whole year must pass before there is an opportunity for a member again to attend, and that is a long stretch, too long. While annual conventions prevail for large organizations whose members are widely scattered, it is my belief that in our limited group, who reside within a comparatively small area and whose means of assembling are conveniently available, a semi-annual convention is preferable. It makes for more frequent personal contacts, and this is one of the great privileges of our meetings. If it is a problem for a member to attend more than one convention a year, he ought not to restrict the desires of those who really prefer two.

Statistics are usually uninteresting, but sometimes are relevant. More than 1000 members of the ANA live in California, and of this number, 12 attended its 1950 convention in Milwaukee. Of these 1000, about 100 are the only registered coin collectors in their respective towns. What a wonderful opportunity lies in our own back yard. Our first consideration should be to sell them the Cali-

California Club News, Views, and Whos

SAN JOSE COIN CLUB. — Cliff D. Anderson addressed the Dec. 4 meeting of the club on "There Is Adventure in Coin Collecting." The speaker related many unusual coin experiences which have taken place during his travels. On one occasion he found an 1804 dollar in Stockton of which Farran Zerbe would not say after examination that it was not genuine. The coin is now held for a price of $1000.

Out-of-town visitors were David L. Redfield, CSNA director from San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Wittlin, Carmel, and Fred Skillman, Santa Cruz. Twenty-six members and guests were present.

Earl Parker conducted an auction of 50 lots.

Dirck Arrowsmith's resignation as vice-president was regretfully accepted by the club. The next meeting will be held Jan. 8.

R. G. McArthur, president of the East Bay Coin Club, Oakland, gave an address on "U.S. Large Cents" at the Nov. 6 meeting. He displayed his collection of large cents and described major varieties, telling of his experiences in obtaining some of them.

He said Sheldon lists 327 collectible varieties, and Newcomb, 589. No one has a complete collection of these 916 collectible die varieties, McArthur said.

With the exception of the year 1815, the U.S. cent has been issued every year since 1793 when it first appeared, and this was given as a probable reason for the tremendous popularity the series enjoys.

"There were no die varieties in 1804, 1806 or 1809," McArthur said. "In 1794 we find the largest number of varieties, over 60. For 1821 there are only wide and compact dates, and in 1823, normal and overdates."

McArthur listed 10 overdates, and said the 1826 over '25 is a "dealers' " overdate; that 1939 over '36 is a diebreak, not an overdate; that 1844 and 1851 over 81 are engravers' errors. He mentioned one variety not listed in Raymond's catalog. He said there are wide and compact dates for 1816. Rarest dates, he said, are 1793, 1799, and 1804.

Twenty-eight persons were present. Two new members joined the club, Ira D. Soper, 537 N. Second St., and John San Filippo, 32 Goodyear St. Forty-eight lots were sold at auction.

Ralph A. Mitchell, CSNA president, addressed the Oct. 17 meeting on "Odd and Curious Media of Exchange". Mitchell has what perhaps is the largest individual collection of odd and curious moneys in existence. The first paper money, the first silver money, and the smallest gold coin were shown. Wood, tea, paper, jade, and many other materials used in exchange were exhibited.

The collection once was placed in the window of a San Francisco store and created such an interest that thousands gathered to see it. It was impossible to get near the store or to walk past it. Finally, traffic was blocked to such an extent that the collection was removed by request of the police department.

The club meets at 8 p.m. on the third Tuesday of each month in the Tap Room of Grace Brothers Brewery, Second St., Santa Rosa. Free (cold) beer — all you can drink — is served. —Gerald L. Hudson.

Our Association

fornia State Numismatic Association and its conventions.

A comfortable majority selected displays as the most important feature of our conventions. That brings up the question of display cases, and that poses the problem of finances. The committee in charge of members' displays had to limit the number of cases to three to an exhibitor until all applications had been filled. This limiting of cases may act as a handicap to those who require more space to display their collections to the best advantage, and may deter some from making exhibits. There is a thrill in entering one's brain child in competition with that of others, and there is a satisfying gratification to one's vanity in receiving recognition by an award. Inasmuch as exhibits loom large as an inspiration for convention attendance, the matter of cases should be high on the agenda.

The question of judging displays showed 41 in favor of a committee and 47 in favor of balloting by individual members. This is very close. At county fairs no one committee is appointed to judge all the entries, and the same should apply to numismatic displays. Awards by an overall committee are, as the politicians say, "lightly considered and carelessly bestowed." Neither the fabulous value of a coin nor the personality of its owner should be the deciding factor in making an award. A Gettysburg commemorative half dollar with its tragic historical background is more deserving of a prize than a 1913 Liberty head nickel whose only claim to distinction is its exclusiveness. Individual judging is the thing, as it makes all who are present active participants.

Ninety to one was the number in favor of continuing Calcoin News in its present form. But according to our secretary's report, that costs more money than we take in. Here we have a very serious problem. The practical side of raising funds for its continuance showed 63 for accepting ads, and 43 for making conventions revenue-producing. Accepting ads seems to be mandatory. However, commercializing our bulletin undoubtedly will make it lose its present attractive style. Still, ads in addition to being remunerative might be of service. There will be some in the state organization who choose not to become affiliated with the ANA and whose only contact with dealers will be through ads in the Calcoin News.

Making conventions revenue-producing has possibilities, but nothing should be done along that line that would have a tendency to scare away our convention attendance. It also could have a bearing on the number of conventions we hold in a year.

Increasing dues never is popular, but may be necessary if other means fail to produce the money needed to continue at our present level. The very probable possibility of losing 38 members by the end of the year for delinquent dues should be a matter of concern to all of us, even though they may have joined on the spur of an enthusiastic moment.

Joint local-state association membership was favored two to one. But here again is a delicate proposition with unpredictable involvements. Cash donations are not dependable. Auctions and bourse unquestionably attract attendance, and both should receive our enthusiastic support and patronage.

In our deliberations during this convention it is advisable that we do not lose our sense of proportion, underestimate our ability, or overplay our hand.

James Robert Parker was born Nov. 8 at St. Joseph's hospital, San Francisco, the son of Irene and Earl Parker. The baby weighed 7 pounds. The CSNA and Its Auctions

The California State Numismatic Association has held seven semi-annual conventions in seven different cities in the state. Registration has run from 111 to 211, and more than half of the registrants have been members of the association. Membership has increased until at this time there are more than 300 on the roster.

When the association was organized in February, 1947, we hoped, in time, to attract as many as 50 to our conventions, and that we might possibly attain a membership of 100. Certainly, we have been successful in far exceeding that goal.

Our conventions have been of a high standard. We have had to build over 100 cases to house displays, and exhibits have been of an increasingly high quality. The bourse has been consistently good. It would be difficult to estimate how many thousands of non-members have come to view the displays, and how many new collectors have been started in our hobby as a result of attendance at our conventions. From this standpoint, too, we can point with pride to our achievements.

There remains then the auction sale, for many of our collectors the 'piece de resistance' of any convention, to some only one of the important features, and to a few an event of little or no importance. It would be equally untrue to say that the auction sales at our conventions have been either outstandingly good, or bad, or even that they have been indifferent; but it is probably true that they have not consistently maintained the high standard of other features of the conventions.

This is no criticism of those who have had the auction in their charge. Quite the contrary, in fact. The problem of getting the material for the auction, sorting, grading and listing it, is a real chore, and Kenneth Lee, Earl Parker and Sam Kabealo are deserving of much praise and thanks for their efforts in this direction at the first seven conventions of the association.

It originally was planned by those who organized the association, that the auction should be an association-managed affair, the purpose being to give members an opportunity to dispose of surplus and duplicate coins. Consequently, the auctions at the first two conventions at Bakersfield and Fresno followed that pattern, with Kenneth Lee and Earl Parker assembling the material, Sam Kabealo acting as auctioneer, and the secretary acting for the association in handling receipts and disbursements. The services of all of them were donated, and all expenses of the auction were borne by the association.

It was not a success. The material offered was neither plentiful nor, generally speaking, of a high quality. Lee and Parker generously filled out the auction list with coins from their own stocks. The work involved was considerable, and obviously they could not be expected to thus generously donate their services indefinitely. Finally, the profits accruing

Next Convention

The eighth semi-annual convention of the California State Numismatic Association will be held in Santa Cruz April 6, 7, and 8. Convention headquarters will be the Hotel Casa Del Rey, which is located just a step from the famous Santa Cruz Beach. All activities will be housed on the ground floor. A large display and bourse room has been arranged for. The banquet room, which will accommodate 500 persons, and the auction room, adjoin the display room.

Single rooms are available at the hotel for $5, double rooms are $7, and twins, $8. Make your reservations now, directly to the hotel management.

The auction will be conducted by P. H. Wittlin, Carmel, at no profit to him. A consignment charge of 5% on items over $5 each, and 25c on coins of lesser value will be made to defray auction expenses. If you have duplicates or surplus coins, contact Wittlin's, P. O. Box 2213, Carmel-By-The-Sea, Calif., and arrange to have them included in the sale.

Santa Cruz Convention April 6-8

to the association were negligible.

Thus, when S. J. Kabealo offered to put on the auction for the third convention as his own venture, guaranteeing all expenses of the auction, agreeing to print a catalog of good quality and still to accept consignments from members, his offer was accepted with a feeling of relief. If the association derived no revenue from the auction, neither did it have any expense in connection with it, nor was it forced to impose on the good nature and generosity of any dealer members.

Kabealo had the auction on the same terms for the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh conventions, and while we heard some remarks to the effect that the auction sale should be "passed around," no other dealer during that time made any offer to conduct the auction on those or any other terms.

Kabealo has rendered an outstanding service to the association. As auctioneer at the first two conventions (without charge), in coming forward with the solution to a difficult problem when we needed it, and finally, as general chairman in charge of arrangements for the Long Beach convention, he has throughout been an active, interested, working member of the association.

Shortly before the Long Beach convention we received our first offer for the auction from another source. It came at an opportune time. We had embarked on an ambitious program of getting out a numismatic bulletin of a high quality, to which we could point with pride as being outstanding. Since the cost was correspondingly high, we were looking for additional revenue.

Consequently, when Paul H. Wittlin of Carmel came forward with an offer for the auction sale at the Santa Cruz convention which would provide that revenue, we gave it very serious consideration. Mr. Kabealo was given the opportunity to make a bid, which he did, his offer being only slightly lower, and of a somewhat different nature.

Wittlin was given the auction for the eighth convention on his terms, and it might perhaps be added with justice, that in the opinion of the writer, probably the deciding factor in the board's decision was the feeling that it probably was in the best interests of the association that the auction be "passed around," other things being equal.

Paul Wittlin was born in Austria, majored in law at the University of Vienna, and lived in Spain and France before coming to this country. From 1939 until 1948 he was a coin dealer in New York City. He is a Fellow in the American Numismatic Society. Coming to California in 1948, his interest in numismatics prompted him to re-enter the field as a dealer in Carmel. His purpose in making his offer for the CSNA auction sale is avowedly two-fold:

First: To give the average or small collector an opportunity to buy or sell coins with a minimum of expense.

Second: To become better known to California collectors, and if he succeeds in the first to gain their good will as a result.

It would appear that the first item above is a renewal of the original purpose of the organizers of the association. It will be interesting to see whether he can succeed where the association failed.

Wittlin's proposal to conduct a low-cost, non-profit sale, and his expressed desire to be of assistance to the association as well as to the buyer and seller, and thereby indirectly to benefit himself are most laudable. He admits that he has never conducted an auction sale, but as he points out, at some time, neither had Kabealo, Stack's, Numismatic Gallery, or even B. Max Mehl. He knows coins, and we look forward to the auction sale at Santa Cruz in April with a great deal of interest.

National Coin Week Will Be Observed April 20-26, 1951

Who's Who In California Numismatics

Coin collecting grows on a person. David L. Redfield, San Francisco, began the hobby in a small way in 1936 by starting a set of United States commemorative half dollars. He now is active in local, state and national coin associations and has broadened his collecting interests to include coins of the world.

Redfield was born May 25, 1898, in Butler, Mo., and spent most of his boyhood in Davenport, Ia., where his father was a junior high school principal. He attended the University of Iowa, Iowa City, 1919-1920.

In 1923 he married his father's secretary, Miss Alice Behrens, and moved to San Francisco to work for Eastman Kodak Stores, Inc. He has been accountant, credit manager, and office manager for "Kodak", where he still is employed.

"I joined the American Numismatic Association in 1937, became a life member in 1946, and was financial director for the 1949 ANA convention held in San Francisco," Redfield says.

"For two years, 1946 and 1947, I was president of the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society, having joined in 1937, and I am now on the board of directors of the San Francisco club."

He attended the organization meeting of the California State Numismatic Association Feb. 22, 1947, and became a charter member. He was vice-president of the CSNA during its first two years, and is serving his second year on its board of directors.

After Redfield had completed his set of U.S. commemorative half dollars, he became a general collector, and later turned to 20th century coins of the world, especially silver dollar-size coins. At present he is concentrating on the money of China.

"A movie camera enthusiast, I am a charter member of the Cinema Club of San Francisco, having joined 20 years ago. I belong to the Lakeside College City Presbyterian Church, and I'm a registered Republican voter—the other one," Redfield says.

BAY CITIES COIN CLUB, Santa Monica. — The annual election was held at the Dec. 13 meeting at Harvelle's Restaurant. Officers for 1951 are:

Ben Schwartz, president; K. J. Older, vice-president; Miss Margaret Snair, secretary; C. Max Wedertz, treasurer; and Joe Block and Perry Ward, board of governors.

The annual banquet and installation of officers will take place at the January meeting which will be held at the Carolina Pines, 7315 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles.

Abe Kosoff conducted a quiz program at the Nov. 8 meeting, and C. Max Wedertz was contest winner. Sol Kaplan, Cincinnati, O., numismatist, was a guest. The report of the nominating committee was made, and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the annual banquet. — Harry S. Davidson.

Treasury officials discovered soon after the gold dollar was issued that it could be split in two and the gold from the inside scraped out, lowering the coin's metallic value. The two halves could be cemented together and passed without too much difficulty. A new coin with thinner planchet took its place.

San Francisco Juniors Hold 'Coin City' Week

To mark the 16th anniversary of the founding of the club, the Junior Coin Collectors of San Francisco presented "Coin City" at the San Francisco Public Library Oct. 14-21. The organization was formed by the late Ernest R. Wernstrom Oct. 10, 1934.

Displays were effectively arranged and were supplemented with maps and pictures. Attendance and interest were excellent.

Exhibitors were Clifford Braun, Robert Illing, Dean Maddox Jr., Ronnie McBride, Dennis Olswang, Arnold Rosing, George C. Ruge, Edward Sims, Tom Twohey, Bert Witte, and Roy Hill.

Each exhibitor received an Award of Merit, a bronze ribbon with gold lettering. George C. Ruge, foreman of the Coin and Press Room, U. S. Mint, San Francisco, presented awards Oct. 20, and gave an interesting account of operations at the "S" mint. He called attention to the 175-180 ton presses which now operate on the now famous dual dies and the smaller 75 ton presses which he affectionately calls his "mosquito fleet."

—Roy Hill, Counselor.
